FROM INDIA TO RUSSIA

Russia and India celebrated 70 years of diplomatic relations. Everyone knows that these relations have always been, even in the most complicated times, characterised by the spirit of pure friendship. But this anniversary is not only a cause for celebration, but also an occasion for serious discussions about how relations could (and should) develop between our two countries in the upcoming decades.

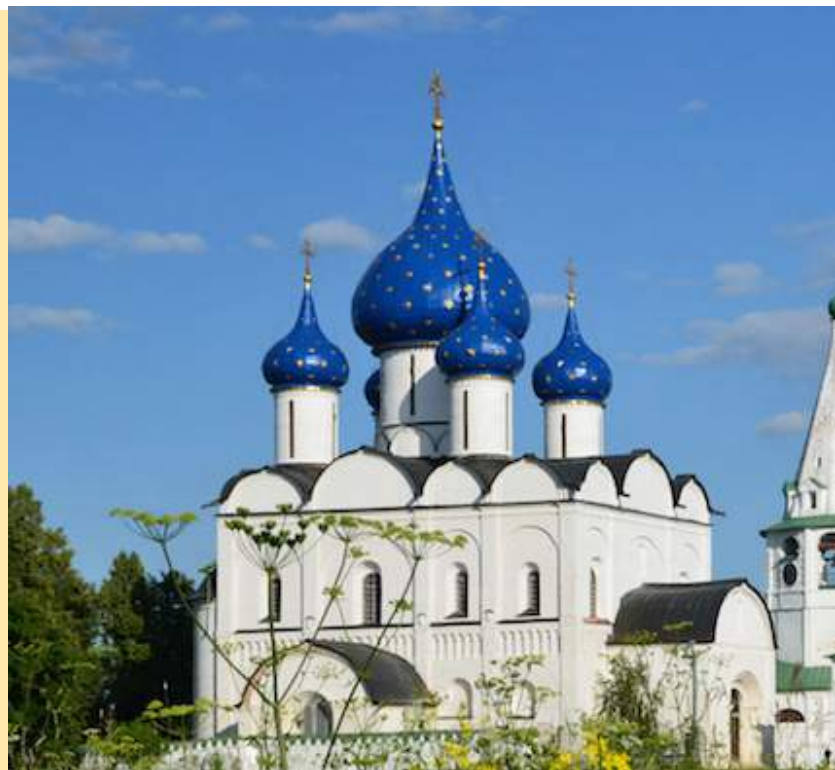

Diplomatic relations between the USSR and India were established even before India officially proclaimed independence, and exactly one year after Winston Churchill's notorious Iron Curtain speech in Fulton started the Cold War. The global standoff between two camps determined the nature of global policy for several decades, including the particularities of Soviet-Indian relations. India, which became one of the founders and the recognized leader of the Non-Aligned Movement, was always seen as a loyal ally in the combat against world imperialism.

"DON'T WORRY ABOUT THE FMGE TEST, IT'S VERY EASY IF YOU STUDY WELL"

"FMGE Result shows that only 20-25% students pass in MCI exam. Students often worry that it is a very tough exam. For them, I clearly want to say that if you wish to be a doctor, you should study well"

- GAURAV PATHAK

You need to understand what are the types of students that come to abroad for studying MBBS. Usually, they are of two types.

First, there are students who wants to run away from India, run away from the situations, run away from NEET & AIIMS exams. These are the students who wants to achieve everything in life by a shortcut method. These are the students who have the habit of procrastination. They continue with their habit in abroad too and that's why they miss the wonderful opportunity of preparing for their FMGE Exam also known as MCI EXAM during their course duration.

Now, there are second type of students who have a clear vision and goal in mind. They toil hard from the Day 1 and clear the MCI Exam.

Studying MBBS abroad is not a shortcut guys but it's an opportunity instead. An opportunity to fulfill your dreams, an opportunity to be something great in life, an opportunity to give a tight slap to our corrupt system in India, an opportunity to prove your mettle. So, please consider it as one. Do proper research about the colleges, the infrastructure, the quality of education, medium of language, clinicals, practical exposure. Don't believe everything what you see on the Internet. Truth is stranger than fiction. And always remember that nothing great comes easy in life. There are no shortcuts to success.

However last couple of years, the scenario of MBBS admissions in Russia, has totally changed and we are specifically looking for the English speaking and understanding skills of the students as well as their interest to become a doctor (not just because parents want them to do it).

We at MBBSDIRECT including many of the medical universities of China has already started to take interviews of the aspiring students before-hand and then check their credentials. In short, now after 6 years down the line, those students who will go back from Russia to give MCI Screening tests will get more better results than any other lot till now.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow has rightly said, "The heights by great men reached and kept were not attained by sudden flight, but they, while their companions slept, were toiling upward in the night".

I'm telling this from my 5 years of experience, if the student is willing to study hard and put required efforts, MCI Exam will be a piece of cake. The student makes the scope for themselves. If you have the right knowledge, the sky is the limit :)
